As announced on September 1, 2024, Rhythm will officially cease selling operations on December 31, 2024. As a result, our service department will no longer be able to provide non-warranty repairs for your clocks. We will be available by phone and e-mail until March 28, 2025, to assist you with troubleshooting steps and warranty problems only.

We've attached a manual with step-by-step instructions on resetting your clock to help you address common issues. Please follow the instructions carefully, as they should resolve most problems. If the issue persists, we recommend contacting the dealer from whom you purchased the clock for further assistance.

If your clock is out of warranty or if your dealer is unable to help, we've partnered with the following repair specialists who can assist you:
